Dear Sir/Madam,

The Canadian owners of Titan Trailers would like to go on record that they are thoroughly delighted to finally see this Prairie land being cleared and applaud the vision and commitment the STDC are showing to redevelop the old Steel works area and specifically the area surrounding their UK Operations Site.

Titan Trailers UK over the last 5 years have invested several Million pounds in developing our UK site, namely the building of our state of the art manufacturing facility for the manufacture of our Aluminium HGV Waste recycling trailers and doubling our workforce to meet the growth and demand for our products.

Our site adjoins onto the old Steelworks railway sidings along our western boundary, their demolition forms part of this application, we would therefore like clarification on the impact the removal of these sidings will have on the security and condition of our site during these works? Not only during demolition but thereafter once the works will be complete.

I have attached a number of photographs showing the rear of our building along with the concrete sidings structure, underpass and also the stone gabions we had to install to shore up the sidings during the construction of our new building.

We would welcome the RCBC planners to visit our site along with representatives from STDC to determine how best to allay our concerns.

Many thanks
